

First Indo-German

International Research Training Group in

Molecular and Cellular Glyco-Sciences

The IRTG MCGS,
Westfälische Wilhelms Universität Münster

has open positions for Student Research Assistants

(10 working hours weekly)

more than just a Ph.D.

Applicants should be Master or Diploma students in Biology or Chemistry (or a related subject), and interested in the topic of the IRTG MCGS (see www.uni-muenster.de/MCGS).

Experiences in Glycosciences and knowledge of German are a plus, but not a prerequisite.

Please submit your application and curriculum vitae, explaining your interest in the program and indicating in which of the MCGS-groups you would like to work to the co-ordinator of the MCGS program, Dr. Carolin Richter, via e-mail (mcgs@uni-muenster.de, Institut für Biochemie und Biotechnologie der Pflanzen, Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster, Hindenburgplatz 55, 48143 Münster, Germany).

Münster, Germany

Westphalian Wilhelm's University - WWU
Max Planck Institute of Molecular Biomedicine - MPI-MB

speaker

Prof. Dr. Bruno Moerschbacher

contact

mcgs@uni-muenster.de

Hyderabad, India

University of Hyderabad - UoH
Osmania University Hyderabad - OU
Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology - CCMB

speaker

Prof. Dr. Nadimpalli Siva Kumar

contact

mcgs@uohyd.ernet.in

www.uni-muenster.de/MCGS