

OCC Lecture WS 2016/2017

Institute of Psychology, Fliednerstr. 21

Location: Fl 35 (ground floor; straight after main entrance, then corridor to the left after both stairways almost at the end of the hallway)

Time: Wednesdays, 16.15 h

Date	Speaker	Title
09.11.16	Pienie Zwitserlood	Seeing for speaking: The interface between visual perception and language
23.11.16	Marc de Lussanet	Why the brain has a contralateral representation and other mysteries
07.12.16	Patricia Ohrmann	Inhibitory and excitatory neurotransmission in the brain: the balance of glutamate and GABA
21.12.16	Markus Junghöfer	Shifting emotion regulation – opposite effects of inhibitory and excitatory tDCS and TMS prefrontal cortex stimulation
11.01.17	Niko Busch	Alpha oscillations in human EEG: a flexible filter mechanism that supports perception, attention, and memory
18.01.17	Katja Kölkebeck	Social cognition in psychiatric disorders
25.01.17	Thomas Budde	Channelopathies and homeostatic cellular plasticity
01.02.17	Sarah Schimke	Language processing in native speakers and second-language learners
08.02.17	Thomas Straube	Functional neuroanatomy of anxiety disorders