

› Why study in Münster?

The Masters programme offers a combination of the Münster English Department's main fields of historical and contemporary English Linguistics, Literary and Cultural Studies, and Book Studies. Course options facilitate individual emphases in the programme, enabling students to choose in which of these fields they want to specialize. Our excellent departmental library and technical equipment make for an ideal study environment. The programme has an international profile, with all courses being taught in English. This also guarantees permanent language practice on a high level.

› Counselling services

- › Student counselling offered for the individual choice of emphasis in the Masters programme
- › Counselling on study abroad terms and international work experience, as well as individual counselling for international students staying in Münster
- › Placement programme for M.A. students in tutoring jobs and in prospective fields of employment

› Admissions

The programme starts in the winter term. Non-EU students apply by May 31, EU students by July 15.

For further information on admissions, please visit the English Department's web pages at www.anglistik.uni-muenster.de
