

Call for Papers

A group of students is putting together a student journal for the English Department at the WWU. The aim is to provide a space to publish both academic and creative work by our students, while gaining valuable experience in editing and publishing. The journal seeks to include works from the various fields of study at the English Department, and is asking for submissions relating to:

- literary/cultural studies
- linguistics
- book studies
- TEFL
- creative writing and artwork (short stories/poetry/comics/etc.)

We would like to invite you to send us your abstracts:

Please submit a 200-300 word abstract, highlighting the topic and relevance of your paper. Keep in mind, only English language submissions will be considered.

Deadline for abstracts is July 8th, 2018.

Final articles should be between 1500 and 3000 words and may be adapted from previous or upcoming academic work.

For the submission of creative works:

Due to the eclectic nature of creative endeavours, we encourage the submission of sketches, first drafts, as well as completed works.

Please submit all questions, abstracts, and creative ideas to WWUjournalSoSe2018@gmail.com.
