Ms Keller is Professor of Constructive Theology at Drew University. In her upcoming publication she “brings process, feminist, and ecopolitical theologies into transdisciplinary conversation with continental philosophy, the quantum entanglements of a ‘participatory universe’, and the writings of Nicholas of Cusa, Walt Whitman, A. N. Whitehead, Gilles Deleuze, and Judith Butler, to develop a ‘theopoetics of nonseparable difference’. Global movements, personal embroilments, religious diversity, the inextricable relations of humans and nonhumans - these phenomena, in their unsettling togetherness, are exceeding our capacity to know and manage. By staging a series of encounters between the nonseparable and the nonknowable, Keller shows what can be born from our cloudiest entanglement”.

Those interested in attending the event, please email Aikaterini Pekridou (a_pekr02@uni-muenster.de) in order to receive the first chapter of the book.
