

Journal of Language and Social Psychology
Call for Papers

SPECIAL ISSUE:

Stay safe and stay at home! Research on language and communication related to Corona

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: February 1, 2021

GUEST EDITORS: Regina Jucks and Friederike Hendriks, University of Münster, Germany

The occurrence of Covid-19 has a strong impact on individuals' as well as public life, with obvious life and death implications. This Special Issue brings together research on language and communication addressing the challenges, solutions and strategies resulting from the Corona-situation. The Call focuses on language and communication, both individual as well as interpersonal and intergroup, potentially through digital means, as well as science and health communication in the media in the digital age.

Potential authors may submit a letter of intent featuring a description of the design, methods of analysis, and hypotheses or research questions at their earliest convenience. A pre-registration of the proposed study/studies with the Guest Editors is encouraged so that coherence within the Issue can be planned for Complete papers need to be submitted no later than February 1, 2021. After a peer-review process the Special Issue is planned to be published late 2021 or early 2022.

Please send letter of intent and questions regarding the Special Issue to guest editors Regina Jucks (jucks@uni-muenster.de) and Friederike Hendriks (f.hendriks@uni-muenster.de).