I General information

The codebook contains results from a survey conducted within the project

„Church and Religion in an Enlarged Europe: A Study on the Social Significance of Religion in East and West“ („Kirche und Religion im erweiterten Europa: Eine Studie zur gesellschaftlichen Bedeutung von Religion in Ost und West“)

funded by VolkswagenStiftung within the funding initiative

“Unity amidst Variety? Intellectual Foundations and Requirements for an Enlarged Europe“ (“Einheit in der Vielfalt? Grundlagen und Voraussetzungen eines erweiterten Europa”)

duration: 2004 – 2008

III Technical Information

III.1 Method

Depending on the country the survey was carried out as a part of a telephone or as face-to-face omnibus survey in 9 European countries – except from Hungary, where the survey was conducted ad hoc.

III.2 Sample

The target group was persons aged 18+ years. The sampling frame was depending on the country derived from a random probability and/or quota sample of all households. When carrying out chance random sampling there tend to be deviations from the official statistics of the sample population. In some countries an attempt was made to eliminate these discrepancies using an iterative weighting procedure (details see table below).

III.3 Fieldwork

The fieldwork was carried out in March 2006 and was coordinated by Ipsos Germany. Local agencies were responsible for the fieldwork, punching and the shipment of a data file to Ipsos Germany where all the data processing was carried out. The local polling institutes were:

Croatia:	Hendal Global Market Research
Estonia:	Saar Poll
Finland:	TNS/Gallup Group (MDC)
Germany:	IPSOS
Hungary:	IPSOS-Szonda
Ireland:	Landsdowne Market Research Ltd
Poland:	IPSOS
Portugal:	MetrisGfK
Russia:	Cessi

IV Important remarks for users

Please note:

All frequencies are calculated from weighted data from the data set C&R_cum.

All missing values (DK, NA) are shown in absolute numbers but have been excluded from the calculations.

The codebook does not contain all variables from the data set. Socio-demographic variables and several other country specific variables have not been included (see variable list at the end of the document).
