ABOUT THE EVENT - GENERAL INFORMATION

From 16 to 27 July 2025, the Rhine-Ruhr region, together with Berlin, will host one of the largest sporting events in the world: over 8,500 student athletes and officials from up to 150 countries will come together for the Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU World University Games Summer. Medals will be contested in 18 sports, with the cities of Bochum, Duisburg, Essen and Mülheim an der Ruhr as well as Hagen and Berlin being the main players.

However, there will be a lot more to see and experience in addition to top-class sport. This is because it is a sporting event with a festival character that appeals to a wide audience through an extensive artistic, cultural and educational supporting programme. "Everyone is all in": Twelve great days in summer 2025 - there really is something for everyone.

Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU Games gGmbH is based in Düsseldorf and is responsible for the planning and implementation of the Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU World University Games Summer. The organising committee was founded in May 2021 and is headed by CEO Niklas Börger. The company now has almost 300 employees.

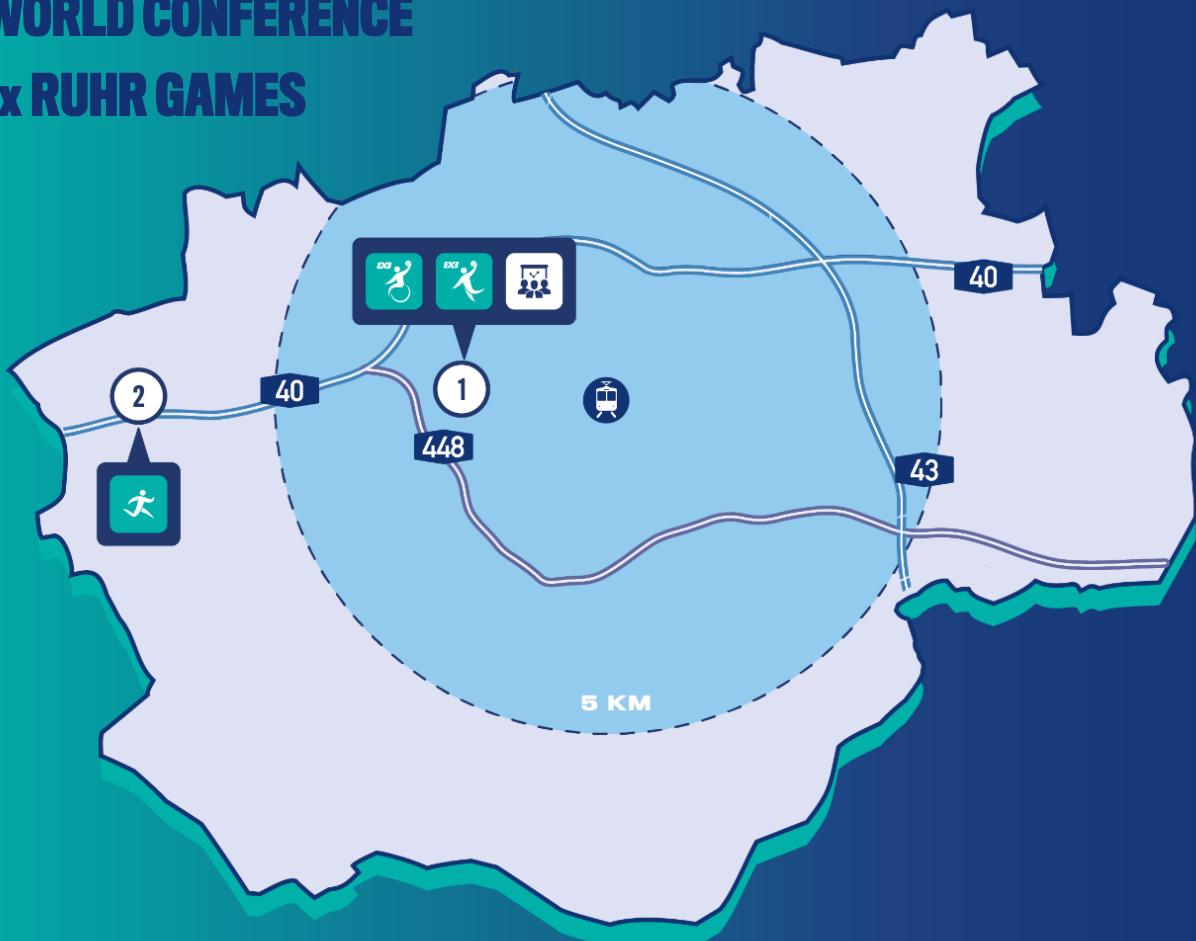

The team of the Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU World University Games Organising Committee has a special goal: the successful planning, organisation and implementation of the 32nd edition of the FISU World University Games Summer, one of the largest multi-sport events in the world in 2025.

WORLD CONFERENCE

RHINE-RUHR 2025

The FISU World Conference, whose origins date back to the 1950s, is the academic highlight of the Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU World University Games. From 17 to 19 July 2025, the three-day conference hosting around 400 participants from over 40 nations will take place in Jahrhunderthalle Bochum - a symbolic location that promotes international exchange and interdisciplinary encounters.

Under the theme 'Competing for change: exploring sustainability and (mental) health through sports', scientists, researchers and students from all over the world will address current issues at the crossroads of mental health, ecological sustainability and sporting performance. The programme is divided into four central sub-themes:

- I. Mental health and performance under pressure among athletes
- II. Balancing acts: work-life-balance and resilience among high-performance coaches, referees and the entourage
- III. Ecological sustainability on campus
- IV. Health and well-being in sports and physical activity

6

The conference considers itself an interdisciplinary platform for scientific exchange and discourse. It hosts keynote speeches, workshops and specialist presentations, which are supplemented by interactive live formats and panel discussions. This ensures that the topics covered are not only theoretically sound, but also practical and relevant to everyday life.

A special feature of the conference is its close proximity to sporting competitions taking place on the site at the same time - including 3x3 basketball and 3x3 wheelchair basketball. The event will also be enriched by a Ruhr Games 2025 supporting programme that is open to the public. This includes workshops and concerts as well as sports and cultural events that create a vibrant atmosphere and promote dialogue between sport, science and society.

The main moderator will be Domitila Barros, supported by a student co-moderator, who will add a young, participatory perspective to the conference.

The 2025 FISU World Conference pursues an inclusive concept: barrier-free access and free childcare will enable the broadest possible target group to participate. The concept of sustainability not only shapes the key content, but also the organisation and implementation of the conference, ensuring that the theme is consistently implemented at all levels.

TOPIC INTRODUCTION

WORLD CONFERENCE
RHINE-RUHR 2025

The 2025 FISU World Conference is organised under the theme “Competing for change: exploring sustainability and (mental) health through sports” and is the academic highlight of the Rhine-Ruhr 2025 FISU World University Games. Four interdisciplinary sub-themes will form the core of the event:

(1) Mental health and performance under pressure among athletes

Athletes are exposed to high psychological and physical pressure, which often leads to mental stress. This sub-theme is dedicated to phenomena such as the “post-Olympic blues” or “choking under pressure” and highlights approaches to integrating psychotherapeutic support into the training routine. In addition, the challenge of the dual career in sport and academia will also be addressed.

(2) Balancing acts: work-life balance and resilience among high-performance coaches, referees and the entourage

The mental health of key actors in the sporting environment often remains unaddressed. This sub-theme focuses on the particular challenges faced by coaches, referees and support staff. Gender-specific aspects and structural inequalities are also taken into account. The aim is to promote resilient structures and support networks within sport organisations.

(3) Ecological sustainability on campus

In the context of the global environmental changes, universities are seen as drivers of sustainable transformation. The sub-theme focuses on sustainable infrastructure measures, educational initiatives (e.g. the FISU Healthy Campus Programme) and the psychological effects of ecological crises on students, such as ‘eco-anxiety’ or ‘eco-grief’. The aim is to promote resilient and ecologically conscious university communities.

(4) Health and well-being in sports and physical activity

The focus of this sub-theme is the long-term promotion of physical health through sport. Aspects such as cycle-oriented training management for female athletes (‘Cycle of Power’), injury prevention and sustainable performance development - particularly in team sports - are addressed. In addition, the sustainable development of physical skills is examined from a training science perspective.

ORAL PRESENTATION

Procedure for the parallel sessions

Each parallel session will be jointly moderated by a representative of the FISU Education Committee or a member of the Academic Board.

Sessions will run for a total of 75 minutes and feature four oral presentations. Each presentation is scheduled 15 minutes, consisting of 12 minutes for the presentation and 3 minutes for a brief Q&A with the audience. Following the presentations, a 15-minute moderated group discussion with all four speakers will provide space for broader exchange and reflection.

Please refer to the attached document for your individual time slot assignment. We kindly ask you to be at the venue 15 minutes before the start of your parallel session.

Conference language

12

The conference language is English. Therefore, both the oral presentations and the presentation slides must be in English.

Venues of the parallel sessions

A total of 20 parallel sessions will take place during the 2025 FISU World Conference. These sessions will be held in the following venues:

- Turbinenhalle
- Dampfgebläsehaus
- Wasserturm stage

To give you a better impression of each location, the following slides provide images and brief descriptions of the respective spaces.

Attendance on the day of your presentation

All participants hold a valid ticket for the entire duration of the conference, so there will be no formal check-in procedure. However, we kindly ask all presenters to report to the Pumpenhaus on the day of their presentation — ideally at the beginning of the day, or at least two hours before their scheduled time slot. This helps us ensure that everything runs smoothly.

If you already know in advance that you will not be able to attend your assigned time slot, please inform us as early as possible so that we can arrange for a substitute. In such cases, please contact us via email at conference@rhineruhr2025.com.

ORAL PRESENTATION

Technical equipment

All conference venues are equipped with comprehensive standard technical facilities to support high-quality presentations. This includes a presentation laptop, beamer/projector, screen, and microphone.

Presenters are kindly asked to bring their presentation slides on a USB stick. Regardless of whether you use the on-site laptop or your own device, you are responsible for ensuring that your files function properly — particularly with regard to formatting, embedded videos, and audio elements.

In general, we recommend using the laptop provided at the venue to ensure a smooth process. However, if you prefer to present from your own laptop, this is also possible.

Information on final paper submission

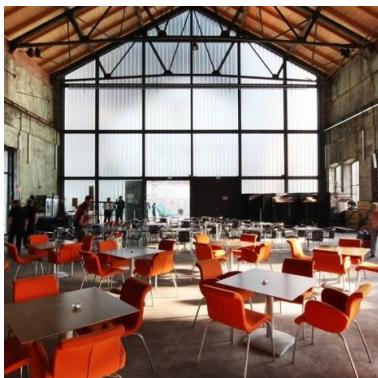

13

The final version of your paper must be submitted by 23 June via the following link Participation Form

All accepted abstracts will be included in the digital programme booklet of the conference. Please note that, at this stage, we cannot guarantee that the final papers will be published after the conference.
