› Behind the Scenes – Understanding German Research Institutions

Date:	Thursday, 11 April 2019, 10 am to 1 pm
Organiser:	Graduate Centre
Location:	Graduate Centre (Room 001)
Enrolment:	graduate.centre@uni-muenster.de

The German research landscape might be confusing for junior researchers, particularly international academics. This event will enable you to get familiar with structures of a German university and to find out about different research institutions, such as universities, research associations and companies. You will also learn about third party funded projects, non-university institutions, and the cooperation between universities and other research institutions.

› Karaoke Night (For Students and PhDs only)

› Intercultural Lunch – Here, There, on the Move: How Can We Create and Maintain Private and Professional Networks?

Date:	Thursday, 7 June 2019, 11 am to 1 pm
Organiser:	Graduate Centre
Location:	Graduate Centre, room 001, Schlossplatz 6
Enrolment:	graduate.centre@uni-muenster.de

Maintaining private and professional contacts might be particularly challenging for internationally mobile researchers. How is it possible to maintain networks over space (and sometimes even time zones) with the country of origin or previous country of residence, while establishing new contacts in the current location? The Graduate Centre will offer a small lunch for you, but if you would like to share something traditional from your home country, you are welcome to bring it.

› Writing Clearly in English: How to Make Your Academic Writing more Effective (for PhDs and PostDocs)

Date:	Tuesday, 25 June 2019, 10 am to 5 pm
Organiser:	Graduate Centre
Location:	Graduate Centre (Room 001)
Enrolment:	celeste.brennecka@uni-muenster.de

How do we know if we've conveyed our written message powerfully and clearly? This is a common concern for academics preparing research articles or writing proposals. This workshop aims to demystify the process: First, participants will learn what readers actually expect when they read. Then, they will use this knowledge to craft writing that meets their readers' expectations. Overall, this workshop presents a systematic approach to revising text so that it conveys the author's message effectively. With practice, these tools will benefit participants throughout their academic careers.

› Science Club of the Medical Faculty Hosting the Welcome Centre's Monthly Academics
