Research

A successful career in academia requires a launch pad that provides researchers more than just financial support: you need a network. The WWU is a research leader in both the natural sciences and humanities and is the perfect place to take the first steps in academia. 26 scientific centres make their home at the WWU, including the Max Planck Research Centre for Molecular Biomedicine, the Fraunhofer Institute for Biomedical Engineering IBMT, the Branch Lab for Plant Biopolymers of the Fraunhofer IME, and the Helmholtz Institute Münster – Ionics in Energy Storage.

We promote internationally renowned, cutting-edge research in all of our main scientific fields – the humanities and social sciences, the natural sciences and life sciences. Moreover, five interdisciplinary research focuses and two emerging fields distinguish our profile: Religion and Politics (Cluster of Excellence), Mathematics Münster (Cluster of Excellence), Cell Dynamics and Innovative Imaging Technologies, Battery Research, Nano Science as well as the emerging fields “Evolution” and “Neural Systems”.

› With an annual budget of over € 600 million, the WWU can provide the resources necessary for cutting edge research.

Careers and Skills

As the results of the regular graduate surveys demonstrate, WWU graduates experience a smooth transition into the world of work. High quality study programmes, complemented with our comprehensive Careers Service, pave the way into successful careers. The Careers Service team helps you to give your studies a jobrelated focus, develop your own professional profile, gain necessary experience in the world of work, prepare and evaluate work placements, learn strategies and techniques relating to applications and build up contacts to employers. To this end the Careers Service offers around 120 seminars every year, provides career counselling, cooperates with many employers from various sectors and posts hundreds of job vacancies each month.

Career Perspectives

KAP.WWU is the university's online career portal and serves as a platform for students, alumni, and employers. Students and alumni of all faculties can post their own candidate profile to present themselves, or browse the employers' offers for interesting vacancies. Employers in turn can also present themselves, as well as publish their vacancies and browse the candidates' profiles. KAP.WWU is exclusively for those enrolled at the University of Münster.

Supporting You

At the WWU, you will always find advice and guidance throughout your student journey.

A Comprehensive Network of Support

We have a network of support in place to help you have a smooth start on your study programme at the WWU, and adjust to student life, as well as to make it as easy as possible to find advice on many different issues. Here's a quick guide to some of our centres and institutions that can help you during your time at the WWU:

International Office

We are here for all of your questions regarding applications, academics, and enrolment. Do not hesitate to seek our help during your studies as well; we are here to put you on the right path towards success! Come meet other students at our international centre, the 'Brücke', a meeting point, a venue for cultural events, readings, international celebrations, exhibitions and concerts. With our international centre and projects we try to make the world feel at home in Münster. We've also made it a priority to promote study abroad opportunities for our students in the European Union and around the world: Take advantage of a semester abroad at one of our 550 partner universities worldwide!

Faculties

During your studies, questions like 'How do I change a course?' or 'Can I postpone an exam?' may come up. At all faculties, educational units and other institutions we have study advisors to help you with any problem you might have.

Student Advice and Counselling Centre

Our Student Advice and Counselling Centre offers counselling and support with finding your study programme. It also provides valuable help for enrolled students on topics such as changing subjects, learning disabilities, motivational issues and decision-making. In professional and confidential conversations, they help you find new perspectives and develop solutions.

Graduate Centre

Our Graduate Centre supports PhD candidates through programming, funding, and interdisciplinary help. It offers advisory services, workshops and comprehensive tips regarding academic qualification. Moreover, they can help plan for your future academic or non-academic career.

› The Studierendenwerk provides affordable apartments for students.

› Our staff are very committed for helping you with your questions and concerns.

› The International Office is next to the University's main building.

Your Accommodation

In Münster, most of the students live in a "WG", a flat usually shared with fellow students. Others prefer furnished or unfurnished apartments in residence halls. The residence halls of the Studierendenwerk Münster (Student Support Services Münster, a non-profit organisation) offer affordable housing opportunities.

All in all accommodation is highly demanded and not always easy to find. We strongly advise you to start looking for a place to stay well before you come to Münster. Our international centre will assist you with your search.

Financial Matters

Germany has committed itself to being a land of ideas. To accomplish this task, the government has invested significantly in education, keeping university fees low for students.

The German Government funds universities through general taxation, meaning tuition fees are not charged.

Top Level Education at a Low Price

You do not have to pay tuition fees at the WWU! However, like all German public universities, we charge a semester fee to support our student service institutions. Your fee includes our semester ticket with which you can use all public busses, trams, the underground and regional trains throughout the federal state of North-Rhine Westphalia free of charge. The semester fee currently is about € 300 per semester.

Living Expenses

The cost of living for students is approx. € 780 per month in Münster. Even though there are many job offers for students in Münster, you should have sufficient financial means to cover these costs. Because studying is very time-consuming, you won't have much time for a student job.

Since there are no tuition fees at most German state universities, there is no comprehensive scholarship system in Germany. However, various German foundations and state institutions offer study grants for excellent international students! Check the database of the German Academic Exchange Service to see if there is a scholarship programme for you: www.daad.de/deutschland/stipendium/datenbank/en/. You can also apply for our scholarship programme as soon as you are enrolled at the WWU.

Visa

If you need a visa to enter Germany, you will have to prove that you have enough money to support yourself. In most cases, applicants have to prove that they have around € 8,700 at their disposal for the first study year.

A Wide Range of Choice

The University of Münster offers a broad range of courses in the humanities and natural sciences at Bachelor's, Master's and PhD level. Especially at the Master's and PhD level, many degree courses are taught in English. Our programmes in law, medicine, dentistry and pharmacy end with a "state examination". These state examination programmes usually take five to six years and are divided into two or three phases. The standard period of study for Bachelor's degree programmes is three years. Most of our Master's courses are two-year programmes.

PhD Studies

If you have shown evidence of outstanding talent in your Bachelor's and Master's degree, you can choose to do a doctoral thesis in any of more than 100 subjects at the WWU! We offer two different kinds of doctoral degree programmes: Individually supervised thesis projects and structured doctoral programmes at our Graduate Schools. Choosing an individually supervised thesis project enables you to carry out your research with a high degree of autonomy and independence. You will write your PhD thesis in close consultation with your academic supervisor. Doctoral candidates at our Graduate Schools on the other hand take a range of courses in their particular discipline and related fields. Each candidate is usually supervised by several supervisors. Above you can find a selection of our Graduate Schools.

For more information, please check: www.uni-muenster.de/forschung/en/promotion/

Check the Admission Requirements

For our programmes, different admission requirements apply. Find out more on these pages.

› Just a hint, most classes at the WWU start 15 minutes after their posted time. This goes back to the tradition of when time was kept with church bells.

What Requirements Do I Have to Meet?

In principle, you need a university entrance qualification recognised in Germany and very good German language skills (for the German-taught courses) if you want to apply for one of our Bachelor's degrees. For Master's programmes, a Bachelor's degree in the same or a similar subject is also required. You don't need German language skills for our English-taught courses, but you do have to prove your very good English language skills.

University Entrance Qualification

If you would like to study with us, you must have an educational background that the German Ministry of Education recognizes as a university entrance qualification. If you have completed your school education in an EU/EEA country, a secondary school certificate is in most cases sufficient. If you have a secondary school certificate from a country outside the EU/EEA, you will probably have to study in your home country for 1-2 years before you can apply with us. Another possibility would be to attend a Studienkolleg in Germany. You can check whether you have a university entrance qualification for Germany here: www.daad.de

Language Requirements

For our German-taught degree programmes, you also need very good German language skills, usually at C1-level. Medicine and dentistry require higher German language skills (C2), Physics and Music lower skills. (B2). Here is a list of the certificates we accept: www.uni-muenster.de/studieninteressierte/en/studienvoraussetzungen/sprachkurse/

A Bachelor's Degree (for Master's Applications)

Almost all of our Master's programmes are consecutive and build on the knowledge acquired in previous studies. For this reason, you need a Bachelor's degree (or equivalent) in the same or a similar field if you want to apply for a Master's programme at the WWU. Some Master's programmes require additional knowledge (for instance further language skills) or practical experience.

Your Application

Most of our courses start in the winter semester (October). For some degree programmes, we also offer summer semester intake (April). We distinguish between degree programmes with restricted and non-restricted admission. If you meet all the admission requirements, you can simply register for non-restricted programmes at the beginning of the semester. Here are our deadlines for programmes with restricted admission:

You apply directly to us – through our online application portal! <http://go.wwu.de/applicationinfo>.
